

These pictures are from MacIntyre East Section of the High Peaks Wilderness from November 2021. These pictures show pits and mounds ecological restoration work completed in 2019-2020 on a series of abandoned logging roads in the Dudley Brook area. The objective of this work was to expedite ecological restoration and forest reclamation of former logging roads that are now part of the High Peaks Wilderness Area in the Adirondack Forest Preserve.

These pictures show ecological restoration work undertaken by DEC in 2019-2020 to restore abandoned logging road corridors in the MacIntyre East section of the High Peaks Wilderness Area. The NYS Department of Environmental Conservation is now using heavy machinery to reverse this work.

These pictures show ecological restoration work undertaken by DEC in 2019-2020 to restore abandoned logging road corridors in the MacIntyre East section of the High Peaks Wilderness Area. The NYS Department of Environmental Conservation is now using heavy machinery to reverse this work.

These pictures show ecological restoration work undertaken by DEC in 2019-2020 to restore abandoned logging road corridors in the MacIntyre East section of the High Peaks Wilderness Area. The NYS Department of Environmental Conservation is now using heavy machinery to reverse this work.

These pictures show ecological restoration work undertaken by DEC in 2019-2020 to restore abandoned logging road corridors in the MacIntyre East section of the High Peaks Wilderness Area. The NYS Department of Environmental Conservation is now using heavy machinery to reverse this work.